

Hello, everyone!

Last week, we welcomed Drew Cutchins, a USC student who has been working in the Bionic Ear Lab to create a music listening game for our community. In this game, sequencers provide you with different percussive sounds and you need to determine which sound is happening across a fixed timeline. Easier examples also include the visual sound wave over the timeline as a guide. To revisit the game and practice, please use the link below.

<http://statichosting-personalsite.s3-website-us-east-2.amazonaws.com/beatdemo/introduction.html>

If you have additional suggestions for the game, please reach out to us as this development is ongoing.

There is NO CI MUSIC HOUR this week, but we will be back on May 19 with dalcroze instructor Cynthia Lilley! Cynthia joined us in April 2021 and we are excited to welcome her back for another session of music and movement (as much as you're comfortable doing). We are beginning our every-other-week summer schedule now; please find the full schedule of dates attached if you need it again!

Best,
Chrysa & Julianne