JOB SUMMARY

Provides strategic leadership to cultivate a university climate that prioritizes and champions diversity, equity, inclusion, belonging, and anti-racism. An institutional resource focused on infusing these objectives into programs and activities across the university, the Vice President, Chief Inclusion and Diversity Officer is a leader, advisor, advocate and catalyst for change, tracking and communicating university progress to an engaged community. Directs assessments to evaluate and advance the effectiveness of institutional diversity goals and outreach efforts. Leads the university toward sustained measurable improvements in educational and organizational environments, in addition to the recruitment and retention of a diverse faculty, staff, and student body. Fosters bold change by developing and implementing the university's inclusion and diversity vision and strategy and engaging the entire USC community, including students, faculty, staff, alumni, and neighbors. Reports directly to the university president, with a dotted-line reporting relationship to the provost. Serves on the president's senior leadership team and leads the Diversity and Inclusion Council, comprised of liaisons from across the university's schools and business units.

JOB ACCOUNTABILITIES

	% Time	Essential	Marginal	N/A
Leads, develops, advances, and evaluates holistic visions and plans for inclusion and diversity strategies and initiatives supporting the university's mission, core themes and strategic plan. Ensures an organizational strategy and narrative that articulates the institutional centrality of diversity, equity, inclusion, belonging and anti-racism efforts to the overall mission, vision, and purpose of the university.
Provides or ensures the provision of expert and strategic guidance on training programs or initiatives for faculty, staff, and students related to diversity, inclusion, and bias mitigation. Approves faculty and senior administrator search committees and diversity of pools. Conducts exit interviews with faculty and senior administrators who depart for other academic institutions.
Develops and recommends criteria to guide the university's allocated resources to support institutional inclusion and diversity plans and initiatives, including plans to improve faculty composition, faculty teaching and research, senior administrator and staff composition, and student and staff inclusion programming. Recommends and develops policy improvements that remove barriers to student success for marginalized and underserved populations at the institutional, divisional and departmental levels.
Works closely with relevant university offices to periodically conduct rigorous impact assessments of campus diversity and inclusion efforts (e.g., campus climate surveys for faculty, staff and students). Creates processes for ongoing evaluation of institutional structures, programs, policies and procedures, and for the communication of results. Collaborates with campus leaders and stakeholder groups including faculty, staff, and students to evaluate, revise, and/or remove institutional policies, procedures, and norms that erect differential structural barriers to the access and success of students, faculty, and staff belonging to marginalized, underserved populations.
Reports directly to the president, with a dotted-line reporting relationship to the provost, and ensures elements of equity, diversity and inclusion are imperative to the university's mission, vision and strategic plan. Manages a team of diversity officers. Ensures that diversity and inclusion programs and services comply with relevant state and federal laws, regulations and university policies. Actively engages in relevant university-wide initiatives and meetings to promote diversity and inclusion and champion access, equity, and social justice.
