Your Symptoms Matter! A Survey for Medical Students with Pelvic Pain

The KSOM Pelvic Wellness Collective recognizes the disparities in medical education around female sexual dysfunction and aims to:

1. Educate medical students about pelvic pain conditions, treatments, and community resources
2. Build KSOM community of individuals with pelvic pain to foster an environment of sex positivity, activism, and support

KSOM Pelvic Wellness Collective created this anonymous survey (click here to participate) in order to understand how many medical students experience pelvic pain and reduce the stigma around these potentially isolating symptoms and conditions. This anonymous data will be presented to other medical students and medical professionals at their event: Pelvic Pain Panel on March 12, 2023. Please tune in to learn more about these common experiences!

Survey completion time: 2-5 minutes
