NUESTRA HISTORIA AND OUR NAME

A Brief History of USC La CASA Adapted from Dr. César López (Class of '96)

USC EL CENTRO CHICANO - A HISTORICAL CONTEXT

The history of El Centro Chicano at USC began with a progressive campus activism and civil rights movement during the 1960s and 1970s. During this period students and campus groups from across the nation protested and organized to demand the expansion of access, curriculum, and programs that focused on the experience of people of color at institutions of higher learning. The Chicana/o Movement, as part of the larger civil rights movement of the 1960s/70's, was an important era that expanded institutional spaces for Chicanos and Latinos in higher education. Student activism from groups like the United Mexican American Students (UMAS), (which after 1969 became known as Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlán- M.E.Ch.A.), the Mesa Directiva, the Black Student Union (BSU), the Asian American Student Alliance, American Indian Students and many other groups, challenged universities and colleges to adopt institutional changes to their curriculum offerings, admissions policies, student services, and relations to communities beyond the campus. These early student movement efforts by USC students of color led to the creation of an Ethnic Studies major, increased student of color admissions, the creation of the Topping Student Fund, the Mexican American Alumni Association (MAAA), the Latino Floor and the founding of USC El Centro Chicano.

The idea of establishing Chicano student campus centers with a focus on Chicano student recruitment, orientation, and retention is outlined in El Plan de Santa Barbara: A Chicano Plan for Higher Education written in 1969. On October 9, 1969, members of UMAS met with USC President Norman Topping and requested funding for the creation of a Centro Chicano that would act as an urban recruitment center for Mexican American high school and junior high students. This initial request to fund a Centro Chicano was denied. The student movement at USC surged with increased campus activism and continued meetings between Chicano students and the administration advocating for university resources for students of color to include scholarships, admission policies, an office of EOPS, and the passage of the Norman Topping Student Aid Fund. By 1971, USC M.E.C.H.A and its supporters on campus were in discussions with the university to have a Centro Chicano established. The focus of this Centro Chicano combined with Chicano student recruitment and retention efforts, along with institutional resources would enable the expansion of USC's ability to meet the needs of the Chicano community. After continued negotiations between the student community and the university, USC El Centro Chicano was established in the fall of 1972, under the leadership of Interim Director Raul Vargas. USC El Centro Chicano opened its doors February, spring semester of 1973. In March, Silas H. Agrego was hired as the first full-time Director. Under his leadership, USC El Centro Chicano implement a broad array of student and community centered services that uniquely impacted the way that USC supported Chicano students and served the broader mission of the university.

HISTORICAL NATURE OF THE NAME: USC EL CENTRO CHICANO

The name El Centro Chicano, is significant historical and political. It is one that emanates from the civil rights movement for self-determination and the promise of education. The identity label of Chicano became the basis for a cultural and spiritual rebirth for the Mexican American community. Once a pejorative term, Chicano was redefined as a positive identity that recognized the rich and ancient mixed indigenous origins of a community. The name Chicano has never been universally accepted by mainstream society or even from within the Latinx community. From its political and cultural origins, it remains in tension with other identity labels for reasons connected to different views on assimilation and acculturation in the U.S.

EL CENTRO CHICANO BECOMES LA CASA: LATINX/CHICANX CENTER FOR ADVOCACY AND STUDENT AFFAIRS

In response to the requests from the student community, the name change process began spring 2018 and became official in spring 2019. On February 13th, 2018 the Central American Network (CAN) released a petition to change the name of El Centro Chicano to El Centro. Approximately 300 students signed the petition. Shortly afterwards four core groups (CAN, Latinx Student Assembly (LSA), Latino/a Graduate Student Association (LGSA) and El Centro Chicano) developed an inclusive and collaborative process to select a name that represented the larger Latinx community at USC. Soon after, a series of meetings and dialogues throughout the Spring 2018 semester were hosted with several stakeholders. The core group considered all perspectives and sought to find a balance between the legacies established by the founders of El Centro Chicano while also affirming the diversity of the new Latinx Diaspora it currently represents.

Adopting the word Chicano in 1972 for the new student center provided the institutional foundation to challenge the university to adapt new ways of providing access to higher education and student services for the Chicanx/Latinx community. Today changing the name of the Centro reinforces its inclusive mission, while respecting El Centro Chicano's history and embracing the future. From an academic standpoint, it continues to be a symbolic intellectual space on the USC campus that retains its historical origins in struggle for self-determination and expanding the mission of the university.

USC La CASA, formerly known as El Centro Chicano, has a long history of helping the university strive for excellence and is a link to each new freshman, transfer and graduate class at USC. Established in 1972, Latinx/Chicanx Center for Advocacy and Student Affairs (La CASA) provides empowerment through cultural identity, leadership and social consciousness development, as well as community building for undergraduate and graduate students at USC.

LATINX HISTORY OF LOS ANGELES

The Great Wall of California mural, by Judy Baca, showing the 1781 founding of Los Angeles by people of mixed Spanish, African, & Native American descent

Los Angeles was officially founded in 1781 by the governor of Baja and Alta California Felipe de Neve with the official name of El Pueblo de La Reina de Los Angeles, although at times it was also referred to as El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora Reina de Los Angeles de Porciuncula. When the settlers arrived to Los Angeles, the area was populated by Tongva Indians the Spaniards renamed Gabrieliños, after the Spanish Mission San Gabriel de Arcangel founded ten years earlier. These and other Native American groups had inhabited the area of Los Angeles for at least tens of thousands of years.

The "Spanish" settlers that arrived to populate the area consisted of a wide racial mixture. Many were full Indians from Sonora and Sinaloa, others were descendants of Spanish and Indian parents, several were also Black or mulatto. There were only two "Spaniards" in the group, one born in New Spain and only one born in Spain. One of the settlers may have even been Filipino since he came from Manila. At the time of its founding, New Spain was in the process of populating Alta California with presidios (military forts) to defend it from foreign intervention, missions to Christianize Indians, and pueblos for families from New Spain to populate. Los Angeles, was only the second civilian settlement in California. Despite the arrival of Spanish settlers, soldiers, and friars, the majority of the population in Southern California was undoubtedly Indian until the 1820s.

In 1821, Mexico gained Independence from Spain and Alta California became Mexican territory. During the Mexican period, Los Angeles' economy grew exponentially and was based primarily on the cattle industry and trade with foreigners. New Spain and Mexico had given large land grants to the settlers of the Los Angeles area. When the United States and Mexico fought a war between 1846 and 1848, the local Californios gave the U.S. Army its clearest defeat at the Battle of San Pascual.

The United States won the war and the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo set the terms of peace. Two of the agreements in the treaty stated that Mexico would cede its northern territories including California in exchange for 15 million dollars, and that Mexicans who chose to remain in the former Mexican territories were to be guaranteed U.S. citizenship and all the rights that came with citizenship. This is how Mexican Los Angeles began its transition into an American Los Angeles.

Despite the rapid population growth of the state in 1849, the immediate Americanization of the north, and the admission of California as a state of the United States in 1850, Los Angeles retained strong Spanish, Mexican, and local Californio cultural influences for at least two decades. However, Mexicans were not the only "Latino" group in California at this time. In fact, some of the first gold miners to arrive in San Francisco in 1848 were from Chile. Even some of the miners from Sonora, Mexico were originally from Chile. Even though the state constitution was drafted by Americans and Californios together, and all the legal documents of the state were printed in English and Spanish, Californios gradually lost their numerical majority as well as their political and economic power during the latter half of the nineteenth century. It was during this period that many Californio elite lost their land in legal struggles and some Californios turned to social banditry and gained infamy like Joaquin Murieta and Tiburcio Vasquez. It was not until the 1920s that Los Angeles saw a large resurgence of Mexican residents in Los Angeles. Largely spurred by the economic stagnation resulting from the Mexican Revolution of the 1910s, Mexicans in Los Angeles constituted the largest number of Mexicans outside of Mexico City by the late 1920s. Because of the repatriation of Mexicans during the first years of the Great Depression, Los Angeles lost one third of its Mexican population. During the 1940s and 1950s the Mexican population grew slowly.

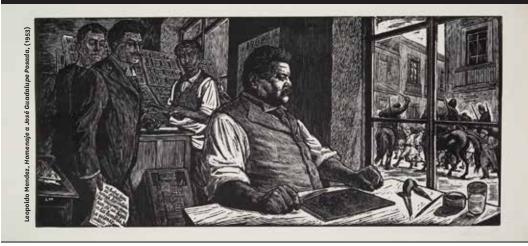

La Iglesia de Nuestra Señora la Reina de los Ángeles; photograph taken by William Henry Jackson between 1890 and 1900

It was not until after 1965 that the Latinx population of Los Angeles grew rapidly. More Mexicans live in Los Angeles than in any city other than Mexico City itself. Yet by the year 2000, the Mexican community made up only 79 percent of the region's Latinx population. The city attracted large numbers of immigrants from Central America, particularly during the 1980's. People from El Salvador, Guatemala, and Nicaragua form the largest Latinx communities after those of Mexican origin. In 2005, Los Angeles elected its first Latinx mayor since 1872, the Mexican American, Antonio Villaraigosa. It is from institutions like USC and cities like Los Angeles that one can expect many other Latinx "firsts." Which "first" will you be?

The Latino Floor houses 32 residents and one resident advisor—an experienced upperclassman trained to cater to the needs of first-year students who plan programs and activities during the academic year.

Event Spotlight: The Latino Floor holds an annual Beach Retreat, hosts their annual Dia De Los Muertos (Day of the Dead) Celebration where hundreds of local school children come to participate in educational workshops and festivities, and participates in mixers with the Somerville and Rainbow Floor.

The Grupo Folklórico de USC (GFU) is a traditional Mexican folk dance group on campus. It's purpose is to introduce more culturally diverse performance groups at USC while creating a safe space and a support group for those who identify with Mexican culture and/or those who wish to learn about the culture. Our goal is to educate the USC community about Mexican culture by performing traditional dances alongside folkloric music and by hosting informational sessions and social events that are open to the entire USC community. We love performing! During the Fall 2018 football season, we had the opportunity to perform alongside the USC Trojan Marching Band during halftime at the Coliseum in our game against Notre Dame. GFU held our first-ever annual showcase at the USC Village during the spring semester, where we performed dances from four different states in Mexico. Additionally, we have had the opportunity to perform on campus for events hosted by other Latinx organizations, and at Loyola Marymount University as guest performers at Grupo Folklórico de LMU's annual showcase.

No experience is necessary to join the group.

Hermanos Unidos-USC was founded in 2002 and seeks to help students succeed in the college environment by its commitment to the three foundational pillars of Academic Scholarship, Community Service, and Social Interaction. HU helps its members fulfill the three pillars by offering study hours, hands-on community service events, intramural sports, seminars, guest speakers, leadership development workshops, and team building activities. A unique component of the organization are its Platicas, where members are invited to converse on a more personal level and in an environment that promotes the achievement of both personal and collective goals. All HU members work towards achieving El Nuevo Hombre, an ideal state that defies the negative stereotypes that have been placed upon Latino males.

In addition to meaning "faith" in Spanish, LaFe is also short for Latino Fellowship. LaFe was formed in the 1980s as a branch organization of InterVarsity Christian Fellowship in response to the need of growing numbers of Latino students on college campuses to be resourced and developed. As a national movement, LaFe is committed to developing Latino leaders who serve the campus community with the love of Jesus Christ as they explore God, faith, and the experiences of our people. LaFe at USC began in the fall of 2013 with the purpose of providing a safe space for Latino students to explore issues of faith and ethnic identity in community. Through weekly gatherings, discussion-based bible studies and community building activities, we invite Latino students to discover their passions, be challenged, and find support in a spiritual community. In addition, we provide Latino students the opportunity to be connected to a larger multiethnic community on campus by participating in activities with our partner organization, InterVarsity Trojan Christian Fellowship. Mixed SC is a welcoming social community created to connect multiracial students. Our mission is to provide a space for community and cultural exploration through social activities, volunteerism, arts, spiritual well-being, and any activities that support the development of an enriched, diverse community." Mixed SC is a relatively new organization, creating a space for the exploration of mixed race culture. 50 years after Loving vs. Virginia, the legislation of interracial marriage, there is a growing need for discussion of the mixed race experience, exploration of the role of multicultural individuals in social change, and development of spaces where multiracial individuals can feel at home. Additionally, we believe that these discoveries are made and barriers are broken down through real relationships, so Mixed SC's programs and events are formed around creating a family and community. We do this with social events-including LA outings, family dinners, parties, tailgates, game nights, etc.- and our family program.

Event Spotlight: We've hosted the international Critical Mixed Race Studies Conference at USC by providing all the volunteers for this three day event. We've also run a few social media campaigns such as "What are you?" which was features in the LA Times's #EmergingUS series. In the Fall of 2018, we had our first Mixed Race 101 6-week class which offered students the chance to learn about history of mixed race and the existing conversation around it from other students and academics in the field.

LAMBDA THETA PHI LATIN FRATERNITY, INC.

"Chivalry Above Self"

Lambda Theta Phi is the first and largest Latin fraternity in the nation with over 150 chapters across the United States. The fraternity provides the Latino college student the opportunity to be part of a family with a mission: To cultivate a spirit of brotherhood, to value an education, to promote unity among all Latinos, to be proud of and cherish our heritage, to assert roles of leadership, to develop character, to practice chivalry, and to serve mankind. Lambda Theta Phi raises the social and cultural conscience of the Latin male college student. Since its start at Kean University in 1975, it has raised awareness for political involvement amongst Latinos through their national philanthropy, Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute. The Beta Lambda chapter at USC looks for strong-minded young men that want to promote unity and leadership within the community. Founded on March 2000, our chapter prides itself in focusing on the quality of our members, not the quantity. Brothers have developed events that raise funds for the homeless, raise awareness to Latino culture to the campus, and promote professionalism during the undergraduate years and after college. Graduates of the fraternity have gone to work at start-up companies, STEM-related careers, and Law.

Event spotlight: Every semester, Lambda Theta Phi hosts "Feed the Less Fortunate." Brothers come together with other organizations to make food for the homeless in Skid Row. The event provides its participants with an eye opening experience the homeless in downtown Los Angeles.

"La Unidad Para Siempre"

La Unidad Latina, Lambda Upsilon Lambda Fraternity, Incorporated was established on February 19, 1982 at Cornell University to provide a formal structure for the positive presence and representation of underrepresented groups at institutions of higher learning across the United States. On April 1, 2006, ten undergraduate student leaders founded the Alpha Phi Chapter at the University of Southern California with the support of LUL alumni who had pledged at Cornell (Alpha Chapter), Yale (Kappa Chapter), and other East Coast-based institutions. Together, these Hermanos chartered the first chapter of La Unidad Latina, Lambda Upsilon Lambda Fraternity, Inc. on the West Coast in an attempt to formally unite student leaders who sought to maximize their time academically, socially, and professionally at USC. Collectively, we strive to realize our fullest potential while leading by example in order to light a path of success for the next generation of underrepresented leaders.

RESOURCES FOR FIRST GENERATION TROJANS

At USC, we define first-generation students as those whose parents do not have four-year degrees. Even if you have older siblings who are currently attending or have graduated from college, you are considered part of the first generation to enroll in, and eventually complete, college. Nearly 20% of the total USC undergraduate population are first-generation students.

WE ARE PROUD TO HAVE YOU HERE AT USC. HERE ARE SOME OF THE ASSETS YOU BRING TO THE SPACES YOU BECOME APART OF:

- PERSEVERANCE
- RESILIENCY
- GRIT
- INSPIRATIONAL
- BI-LINGUAL/MULTI-LINGUAL

YOU MAY FIND YOURSELF STRUGGLING IN YOUR TRANSITION. THERE ARE SOME OBSTACLES THAT COULD HINDER YOUR ACADEMIC SUCCESS, SUCH AS:

- DIFFICULTY ADJUSTING TO THE ACADEMIC DEMANDS OF COLLEGE.
- HAVING TO WORK AND ATTEND SCHOOL.

- PRESSURE TO SELECT A SPECIFIC MAJOR AND/OR CAREER PATH.
- LACK OF UNDERSTANDING FROM FAMILY AND FRIENDS ABOUT WHAT IT MEANS TO BE FIRST GENERATION.

USC provides a wide variety of resources for first-generation college students. We hope that you take advantage of everything the university has to offer and that you realize that you are not alone.

ESSENTIAL TIPS FOR STUDENTS

FRESHMEN/TRANSFERS

#1 MAINTAIN YOUR FINANCIAL AID ELIGIBILITY

Maintain a GPA higher than a 2.3 to remain eligible for financial aid. More information is on the Satisfactory Academic Progress section on the Financial Aid page. Turn in all required documentation on your FAST (Financial Aid Summary & Tasks) account through your USC portal by the deadlines! Deadlines are very important; use a calendar to keep track of deadlines and items due. La CASA provides free planners. Create a personal folder and keep records/copies of everything. Do not throw away anything.

#2 TIME MANAGEMENT IS EVERYTHING!

Avoid the all-nighters. Studies show that sleep deprivation may cause a decrease in attention and an inability to store information into your memory. There are health risks associated with stress and sleep deprivation, and both may affect your GPA. The handbook's planner, is an ideal place to write deadlines and upcoming events that can assist you in completing assignments and tasks on time. Planning ahead and prioritizing your schedule is key to ensure that you meet your deadlines. For time management resources and support services visit: USC Kortschak Center for Learning and Creativity at http://kortschakcenter.usc.edu and USC Center for Academic Support http://undergrad.usc.edu/services

#3 ASK FOR HELP...DON'T WAIT FOR SOMEONE TO HELP YOU

If you start to sink academically, or you really want that A, visit the Center for Academic Support, located in STU 301, for free tutoring or the Kortschack Center for Learning and Creativity, located in STU 311, for more help. Ask your professors for help because they are here to help you. Visit a student resource center such as La CASA if you need help with anything academic or non-academic (i.e. problems at home, financial aid problems, relationship problems, stress). We can help direct you to additional resources. You can also visit the Counseling Center located at the Engemann Student Health Center if you would like to speak to someone about personal matters. Their phone number is (213) 740-9355. Friends are great people that will help you get through anything, but if you need anyone else visit the resource centers or groups on campus. USC wants you to succeed, use the

#4 MEET WITH YOUR ADVISOR

The university requires you to make an appointment and visit your advisor before registering for spring and fall semesters in order to avoid registration 'holds'. Advisors will help you select the proper classes for your general education and major requirements. If you are undecided they can help you decide on a major, investigate career/internship options, and help you develop job searching skills. Take time to get to know your advisor, they can be great resources in learning about new opportunities outside of USC. Appointments are made online through your USC portal. For additional information, visit your department's website.

#5 TALK TO YOUR PROFESSOR

Professors can get tied up with their job demands and personal obligations. Take time to introduce yourself, schedule an appointment during their office hours or at a time that is convenient for both of you, and begin to build rapport with them. They will definitely remember you when they are grading, if you show initiative and interest in the class. They can be a great resource, providing recommendation letters, mentoring, and job opportunities.

#6 YOUR USCARD IS YOUR KEY TO EVERYTHING!

Keep your USCard safe. It will allow you to buy food, check out library books, access your dorm room, and visit the Lyon Center. Attach your USC card to your key chain/USC lanyard or put it in your wallet so that you can always know where it is. If you lose it, report it lost online, and go to the USCard Office the next day to get a new one for $25. For more information visit http://mycard.usc.edu/

#7 STAY HEALTHY

Get some exercise and as much sleep as possible. School food can pack on the pounds and too much stress can make you sick. Be careful of the "freshman 15"; it's not a myth, but don't forget to eat either! Take advantage of the facilities USC has to offer such as the Lyon Center and the Engemann Student Health Center. The Lyon Center is a gym that offers recreational sports, yoga, swim, dance, etc. Visit https://sait.usc.edu/recsports/facilities/lyon-center-lrc/ for more information. The Health Center has counseling services, health promotion and disease prevention programs. They promote healthy lifestyles and care for your physical and mental health concerns. For more information visit http://engemannshc.usc.edu/.

#8 PLANNING TO WORK?

You will need a resume. Whether you have one or would like to build one, it is best to visit the Career Center, located in STU 110 for questions and help. Then, try to find an on-campus work-study job; hours are flexible and you don't have to commute. Contact the financial aid office at (213) 740-4444 for work study eligibility or visit them at John Hubbard Hall. Be on the lookout for job fairs; they are typically held at the beginning of each semester on campus. Visit, http://careers.usc.edu/ for more information and http://ois.usc.edu/employment/employment-f1/f1oncampusemployment for more information about working on-campus as an international student.

#9 GET INVOLVED!

Find a balance between studying and taking time to yourself. Being homesick is a real thing, if you find yourself feeling homesick, join clubs or organizations on campus to connect with others. You have many option such as, the school newspaper, greek organizations, intramural sports, etc. The Latinx Student Assembly alone has over 20 clubs and organizations you can join. Visit La CASA or the Volunteer Center for more information on how to get involved. Check out La CASA's website for more information about the Latinx Orgs, https://lacasa.usc.edu. You can also check out http://campusactivities.usc.edu for more information about other student organizations at USC. For volunteer opportunities visit the JEP house or visit their website for more information at http://dornsife.usc.edu/joint-educational-project. Make sure to visit them within the first week of classes for volunteer opportunities.

#10 EXAM TIME: AVOID PROLONGED USE OF SOCIAL MEDIA

Social media can be a big distraction during midterm season and finals week. Allow yourself to temporarily disconnect from your social media to focus on your study time for exams.

#11 STUDY, STUDY, STUDY, STUDY...

Find a quiet study space. Leavey Library is open 24/7. There are study and computer rooms at the Ronald Tutor Campus Center, Doheny Library, Salvatori Computer Science Center and King Hall. To reserve a space at one of the libraries visit https://libraries.usc.edu/reservable-spaces. Create or join study groups so you can share notes and review course work. Don't fall behind on your readings! And do not hesitate to ask for help. La CASA is here for you. Check out this website for more places to study on campus. https://libraries.usc.edu/spaces-overview

GRADUATE STUDENTS

#1 TIME MANAGEMENT

As a graduate student, there might be more on a student's plate. Don't procrastinate! Not waiting until the last minute to do an assignment is advice that has been given to us since we can remember, however, it applies to us now more than ever.

#2 NETWORK

Make sure to go out there and meet new people! Meet your classmates, professors or other people at USC! By networking, you will find new friends, study buddies, and a support system you will need to survive grad school! You can network by getting involved and joining organizations in your program.

#3 MENTOR

Along with meeting new people, it's important to get a mentor. It can be another student who is in another year, a professor, or someone who is in the profession that has qualities that you admire. It might feel awkward asking someone "Do you want to be my mentor?" but there is nothing to lose! They will feel honored to be considered and you will benefit from all the advice they can give you! You are never too old to get a mentor and you can never have too many mentors.

#4 SELF-CARE

School can be stressful and time consuming, but don't forget to take a break once in a while and do the hobbies you love.

#5 SCHOOL SPIRIT

You may feel that the undergraduates have way more school spirit, but don't be afraid to join them! You are now part of the USC Familia and you have every right to show it off!

#6 RESOURCES

Finally we encourage graduate students to venture out of their school/program/department and explore other resources on campus beginning with USC La CASA.located on the 4th floor of the student union, STU 402, as well as other offices and programs highlighted in the Latinx Resource Handbook. In addition, we strongly encourage you to seek out organizations you might want to be a part of, starting with Latinx Graduate Organizations listed in the club/organization section in this book. These additional resources will help you in achieving the tips identified above and ultimately a well-balanced success at USC.

LATINO FLOOR RA 2019-2020

ANDREA DIAZ '20 diazandr@usc.edu Major: Economics

Minor: Photography

Hello & Bienvenidos to USC! My name is Andrea Diaz and I will be serving as the RA for El Sol y La Luna Latino Floor. I look forward to building a wonderful community with first-year students and working closely with La CASA, another home away from home for many students. There are many incredible opportunities waiting for you at USC and I hope to be a resource and a guide to helping you transition into the beginning of your journey into higher education. The Latino Floor is all inclusive. If you find yourself in another residential building, reach out to see how you can still be involved and a part of the familia as an honorary member.

As for me, I will be entering my senior year and expect to be graduating with a BA in Economics and a minor in Photography. I am pursing a career in international development with a focus on home and displacement. Within the USC Latinx community, I have lived on the Latino Floor, worked at La CASA as the Special Project Assistant, served on the e-board of the Latinx Student Assembly, and am a sister of Lambda Theta Nu, Sorority Inc. I have also taken advantaged of the international opportunities offered by USC and outside organizations—having studied, researched, and interned abroad. Aside from being an RA this year, I will be leading a personal research project, continuing my involvement with the Interfaith Council, and serving as the Photo Editor for the Daily Trojan.

Whether you are a resident of the Latino Floor, an honorary member, or a transfer student, I warmly welcome you to the USC Latinx community. Please feel free to ask me questions and raise your concerns. Throughout my time at USC, I have learned from my successes and my failures and I am more than willing to pass along that knowledge.

Congratulations of your admittance and Fight on!

THANK YOU MUCHAS GRACIAS POR SU AYUDA

The Department of Latin American and Iberian Cultures in the USC Dornsife College

Why learn Spanish and Portuguese? Why major or minor in Spanish at USC?

Connect with more than 400 million speakers of Spanish worldwide, including almost 40 million in the United States. Capitalize on the growing importance of Brazil and other Portuguese-speaking areas of the world economy. Immerse yourself in some of the world's most exciting cultural hubs, such as Buenos Aires and Madrid, or study issues of migration in Valencia, all cities where we have summer programs.

Expand your professional skills with linguistic and cultural proficiencies and the ability to think critically about global problems and opportunities. Experience the intellectual challenge of linguistic and literary theories, and the workings of literature and film from Cervantes and Sor Juana to Borges and Almodóvar.

And where better to explore the realms of Spanish and Portuguese than in Los Angeles, one of the largest Spanish-speaking cities in the world and, arguably, one of the capitals of Latin American culture?

For additional information or to declare the major or minor, contact Jessica Kanoski, Academic Advisor, at (213) 821-4316 or jkanoski@usc.edu.

MEMORIAL TO CESAR CHAVEZ

University of Southern California. Between Annenberg School of Communication and Taper Hall for the Humanities. Text from the plaque: Cesar Estrada Chavez, March 31, 1927 - April 23, 1993. He visited the USC campus in 1982, 1986, and 1989. "The end of all education should surely be service to others." [statement repeated in Spanish]. Dedicated March, 1998.

LA MEMORIA DE NUESTRA TIERRA

La Memoria de Nuestra Tierra, is a mural painted by Judith F. Baca for the Topping Student Center. Commissioned by the university and dedicated on December 5, 1996, it depicts a landscape from a photograph of the northern part of Los Angeles. Land is the essential framework and focus of the mural. Often an image in the work of Judy Baca, the land here represents fertility, as it stretches into the distance as a source of food for the people. The river flowing from the kiva, changes to a freeway and then returns to its natural state, helping to sustain the land. In the mural the land has been stripped away showing in historical stratification the story of itself and the people who dwell on it, included among the figures are several USC students who were involved in the creation of the mural, as well as David Alfaro Siqueiros and Diego Rivera. Mural was relocated to the Ronald Tutor Campus Center Graduate Student Lounge TCC 430 and rededicated by La CASA on September 30, 2010.

JOSE MARTI SCULPTURE

USC's bronze bust of José Martí, the famous nineteenth century Cuban poet and patriot, is again on display welcoming visitors to the Doheny Memorial Library's Intellectual Commons, a room housing the Boeckmann Center's Iberian and Latin American reference collection. In April, 2008, the Dean of the USC Libraries Catherine Quinlan, placed the bronze likeness of Martí in its present location. From 1994 to 2000, it was displayed in the Boeckmann Center in the lower level of Doheny Library. Its first move was to East Library for safety during the Doheny Library's earthquake retrofit construction. In 2004 it returned to Doheny Library, this time to protect it from a retrofit construction project in East Library. It remained behind the scene for the next four years, with brief public appearances each year for special events.

CESAR CHAVEZ MURAL

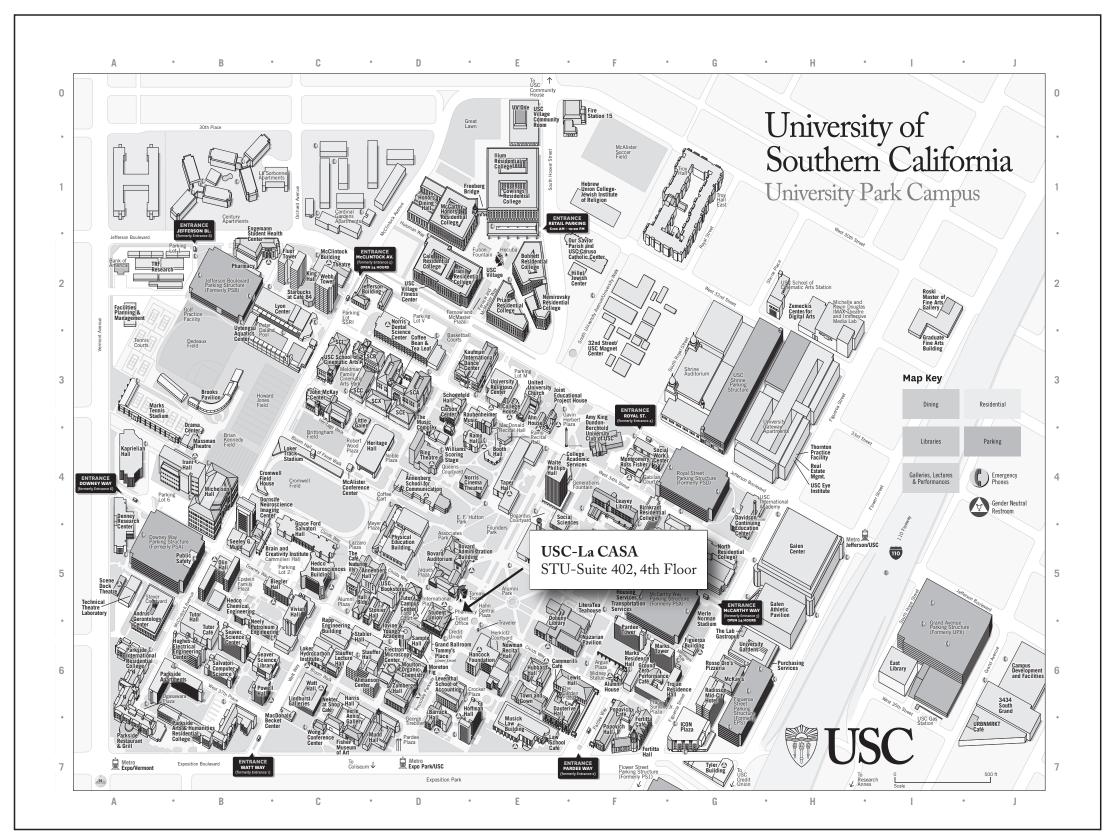

Through support of the Latino Parents Association, the United University Church (UUC), and the community, El Centro Chicano dedicated a mural to United Farm Worker founder Cesar E. Chavez (mural on left). The mural was a collaborative effort and was dedicated in 1996. Alfredo Davalos, the artist depicts the life and principles of Chavez through images of other non-violent leaders and the work of the farm laborers. The mural is located in the Jose Carlos Lecture Hall within the former facilities of La CASA (United University Church 300, 3rd fl.). On November 12th, 2013 an updated version of mural (mural on right) in collaboration with Alfredo Davalos was dedicated at new location of La CASA (Student Union. Suite 402).

METAMORPHOSIS OF MIGRATION

This mural pays tribute to the knowledge we (students) have used for our own social transformation through the migration and hard labor of our parents. The Monarch butterfly serves as a symbol for our own family's migration; the migration and sacrifices made by family members from their country of origin all in the name of Educacion. Our family efforts and sacrifices, reflected through minimum wage occupations and educational support, serve as the foundation and source of our metamorphosis (*transformational resistance) and the aspirations they wish for us. The books that frame this process (by authors and scholars of color) are exampled of resistance and activism frameworks that have supported the educational access of marginalized students. This mural by Alumnus Luis Genaro Garcia was unveiled in Spring 2016 partially completed, it was unveiled completed at the beginning of Fall 2016. It is located at La CASA (Student Union, Suite 402).

LA CASA'S PAN DULCE

The mural is a metaphor for La CASA's Philosophy. It represents current USC students and alumni gathering around a table consuming and sharing food and culture. The figures embody USC's students and alumni including those who are military veterans, are undocumented, have special needs, and those who hail from different ethnic and religious backgrounds. At the center of the table is a pan dulce (sweet bread) basket representing La CASA's Power Pan Dulce Speaker Series wherein current advocates, activists, leaders, and scholars share their knowledge and experiences to empower and support our USC community and students of color. This image reflects La CASA's welcoming and open hospitality that sustains our students through opportunities to share and expand their cultural capital, knowledge, and to have a place where they feel they belong. This mural by Alumnus Luis Genaro Garcia was unveiled in the Fall of 2015, and it is located at La CASA (Student Union, 402). *Solórzano, D. G., & Bernal, D. D. (2001).
